Introducing The Ecoegg

The Award Winning Laundry Solution

The award winning Laundry Egg is a complete replacement for washing detergent. Just pop it in the drum of your washing machine – no powder, liquid, tablets or gels required.

- The two types of mineral pellets inside the egg get to work, producing powerful – but natural – cleaning foam which powers through the fibres lifting off the dirt and grime.
- Independently, laboratory proven to perform just as well as regular detergent, our innovative Laundry Egg is a real alternative to harsh chemicals – giving great results, naturally.
- Supported by Allergy UK and the National Eczema Society, the Laundry Egg is dermatologically tested and perfect for even the most sensitive skin.
- The 720 wash Laundry Egg lasts for 720 washes; that's 3 year's worth of laundry for the average family – imagine the money you'll save not having to buy detergent for the next 3 years! Each load works out to be just under 3 pence per wash.
- Available in Soft Cotton, Spring Blossom or 100% Fragrance Free.

The Final Reason To Switch To Ecoegg

If the above hasn't convinced you that you should switch to the Ecoegg over your familiar big box powder or liquid.

Maybe the following table will. It contains a list of the harmful chemicals that can be found in popular washing detergents and the possible side effects they are known to cause.

| Ingredient to Avoid | Found In | Potential Health Risks |
|--|--|--|
| Benzaldehyde | Laundry bleach, perfumes | Irritation to mouth, throat, eyes and skin |
| Ethylenediaminetetraacetic acid | Fabric softener | Reproductive and developmental effects in animal studies |
| Artificial fragrances | Laundry detergent, dryer sheets, fabric softener | Irritation to skin and eyes; many are toxic and are suspected carcinogens |
| Diethanolamine | Detergent | Irritation to skin and eyes; linked to liver and kidney tumors and developmental and reproductive toxicity in animal studies |
| Quaternium-15 | Detergent | Releases formaldehyde, a known carcinogen that causes rashes and skin inflammation |
| 2-Butoxyethanol | Dry cleaning chemical, stain removers | Birth defects and reproductive and developmental effects in animal studies; carcinogen |
| Chlorine | Laundry bleach | Potent irritant to eyes, upper respiratory tract and lungs |
| Perchloroethylene (Perc) | Dry cleaning chemical | Liver and kidney damage; irritant; possible carcinogen |
| Ethyl acetate | Fabric softener | Neurotoxin; irritant |
| Nonylphenol ethoxylate | Laundry detergent, dry cleaning aids | Hormone disruptor |

But of course these chemicals are not just staying within the home environment, they are being discharged into the water system everytime a washing machine empties.
